LET'S GO FOR A STORY WALK

The Trouble in Tune Town by Maura Pierlot

Download or pick up the map and follow the walking route to each stop to find out what happens next.

Scan the QR code to download the map and to hear audio of the author reading each part of the story.

THIS IS STOP 8

For the previous part of the story, go to:

Top of Bus Interchange
– Corner of Ernest Cavanagh Street & Gungahlin Place West

For the next part of the story, go to:

Gungahlin Place Playground

To Tune Town they flew over mountains and seas, catching a ride on an up tempo breeze.

‘It’s great to be home!’ said the notes, so upbeat, then each took their place on the blank music sheet.

Story and illustrations used with permission of the author Maura Pierlot

Maura is an author and playwright based in Canberra. She enjoys writing about memory, perception and identity. The Trouble in Tune Town, her first children’s book, was inspired by her kids who loved playing music but didn’t like practising. The key is to learn from mistakes, keep going and have fun.
